

Warner School of Education – University of Rochester
INNOVATIVE UNIT

Scoring guidelines and rubrics

There are three parts to this evaluation:

Part I: Designed to evaluate the extent to which the candidate has fulfilled the requirements of this project, as outlined in the detailed description of the assignment. Failing to do so may require the candidate to revise or redo the assignment before he/she can pass the course.

Part II: Designed to evaluate the extent to which the candidate has met some key standards about planning and implementing instruction set by his/her professional organization.

Part III: Designed to evaluate the extent to which the candidate has met some key proficiencies identified as target for all Warner teacher candidates.

Please remember to complete all three parts. Each part has different rubrics, so please carefully review the instructions provided at the beginning of each part before scoring.

We expect both the candidate and the instructor to independently complete this evaluation.

Candidate's name: _____ Evaluator's name: _____
Evaluator's role: __ cooperating teacher; __ university supervisor; __ faculty advisor

INNOVATIVE UNIT RUBRICS – PART I:

Please evaluate the extent to which the candidate has completed each component of the unit report as intended, using the following rubrics:

1. Insufficient: The criteria described are not met. In order to obtain a passing grade in this assignment, the candidate must redo all or part of the unit as directed by the course professor.
2. Emergent/needs improvement: The criteria described are partially met. Minor revisions in the paper are called for to address the shortcomings identified and should be completed before the candidate can “pass” this assignment.
3. Basic proficiency: The criteria described are essentially met. The Innovative Unit report can be used as evidence that the candidate is able to plan, implement and evaluate worthwhile instructional units.
4. Outstanding performance: The unit fully meets the criteria described and provides an outstanding example that the candidate is able to plan, implement and evaluate worthwhile and innovative instructional units.

Category	(1) Unacceptable/Insufficient	(2) Needs Improvement/Emerging	(3) Basic Proficiency	(4) Outstanding Performance	Score
1. Introduction	The description of the unit does not provide a context for the components of the unit and does not include an essential question and/or topic addressed. The description of the context of implementation is inadequate.	The description of the unit gives some context for the components of the unit and includes an essential question and/or topic addressed where appropriate. The description of the context of implementation is partial or incomplete.	The description of the unit gives a sufficient context for the components of the unit and includes an essential question and/or topic addressed where appropriate. The description of the context of implementation is clear, but some specifics are not present.	The description of the unit gives a clear context for the components of the unit and includes an essential question and/or topic addressed where appropriate. The description of the context of implementation is clear and rich and includes grade level, racial, ethnic, and gender make-up of students and teachers, a description of the school and classroom, and indicated to which student teaching experience the unit applies.
2. Theoretical Framework	The theoretical framework is not articulated. Candidate has not adequately used course readings. The definition of the content area addressed and the theory of learning are unclear. The rationale for the unit is not clearly stated with little or no articulation of the importance of the unit to meaningful and relevant student learning.	The theoretical framework is somewhat articulated. Candidate has used some course readings where appropriate. The definition of the content area addressed and the theory of learning are unclear. The rationale for the unit provides some articulation of the importance of the unit to meaningful and relevant student learning.	The theoretical framework sufficiently guides, and provides a foundation for, the unit. Candidate has used course readings where appropriate. There is both a definition of the content area addressed and a theory of learning with some connections to the larger curriculum. The rationale for the unit sufficiently explains the importance of the unit to meaningful and relevant student learning.	The theoretical framework is clear and well thought out. It clearly guides, and provides a foundation for, the unit. Candidate has used course readings and has included some outside readings where appropriate. There is both a definition of the content area addressed and a theory of learning. The rationale for the unit clearly explains the importance of the unit to meaningful and relevant student learning.

Category	(1) Unacceptable/ Insufficient	(2) Needs Improvement/Emerging	(3) Basic Proficiency	(4) Outstanding Performance	Score
3. Goals/ Professional Standards	The overarching goal/s and/or larger curriculum are not adequately described and no connections are made. The specific goals for the unit are not adequately described. Few, if any, links to a discussion of the professional standards this unit addresses are provided. There are no connections to the content addressed, the theoretical framework, curriculum, theoretical framework and overarching unit goal/s.	The overarching goal/s and the larger curriculum are described but the connections are unclear. The specific goals for the unit are vaguely described. Some links to a discussion of the professional standards this unit addresses are provided. There are a few connections to the content addressed, the theoretical framework, curriculum, theoretical framework and overarching unit goal/s.	The overarching goal/s and connections to the larger curriculum are sufficiently described. There are some connections to the content addressed, the theoretical framework, curriculum, theoretical framework and overarching unit goal/s.	The overarching goal/s and connections to the larger curriculum are clearly articulated. The specific goals for the unit are clearly stated and are explicitly linked to a thorough discussion of the professional standards this unit addresses. Explicit connections to the content addressed, the theoretical framework, curriculum, and overarching unit goal/s are richly described.
4. Objectives	Specific unit objectives are not clearly stated and connections between these objectives and the unit goals and professional standards are not described.	Some specific unit objectives are stated and connections between these objectives and the unit goals and professional standards are briefly described.	Specific unit objectives are articulated and connections between these objectives and the unit goals and professional standards are sufficiently discussed.	Specific unit objectives are clearly articulated and connections between these objectives and the unit goals and professional standards are thoroughly discussed.
5. Assessment	The multiple forms of assessment used across the unit are not described and do not include an appropriate range of assessments. Assessments are not connected to the theoretical framework, unit goals and objectives, and professional standards. How assessments will facilitate the scaffolding of student learning over time is not described, nor is how assessment will inform instruction.	The multiple forms of assessment used across the unit are described somewhat and include either formative/summative or formal/informal assessments. Assessments are loosely connected to the theoretical framework, unit goals and objectives, and professional standards. How assessments will facilitate the scaffolding of student learning over time is unclear, as is how assessment will inform instruction. Category	(1) Unacceptable/ Insufficient	(2) Needs Improvement/Emerging	(3) Basic Proficiency	(4) Outstanding Performance	Score
6. Pedagogy	The series of connected lessons and/or experiences in the unit are poorly described. Some lesson plans are included (with few relevant materials, e.g. rubrics, handouts, etc.) and are not consistent with the lesson plan format given. Strategies for scaffolding and supporting student learning over time are not mentioned, and relevant safety considerations are not addressed.	The series of connected lessons and/or experiences in the unit are vaguely described. Selected lesson plans are included (with most relevant materials, e.g. rubrics, handouts, etc.) and are somewhat consistent with the lesson plan format given. Strategies for scaffolding and supporting student learning over time are unclear, and relevant safety considerations are minimally addressed.	The series of connected lessons and/or experiences in the unit are described. Sufficiently detailed lesson plans of selected lessons are included (with some relevant materials, e.g. rubrics, handouts, etc.) and are consistent with the lesson plan format given. Strategies for scaffolding and supporting student learning over time are described, and relevant safety considerations are addressed.	The series of connected lessons and/or experiences in the unit are thoroughly described. Detailed lesson plans of selected lessons are included (with all relevant materials, e.g. rubrics, handouts, etc.) and use the lesson plan format given. Strategies for scaffolding and supporting student learning over time are richly detailed, and relevant safety considerations are addressed.
7. Unit Implementation	Unclear description of what happened when the unit was implemented, with little attention to students' responses to its main activities. Includes no reflection on what went well and what he/she would change in future implementations.	Some description of what happened when the unit was implemented, with particular attention to students' responses to its main activities. Includes some reflection on what went well and what he/she would change in future implementations.	Good description of what happened when the unit was implemented, with particular attention to students' responses to its main activities. Candidate reflected on what went well and what he/she would change in future implementations.	Clearly describes what happened when the unit was implemented, with particular attention to students' responses to its main activities. Candidate reflected in detail on what went well and what he/she would change in the future.
8. Analysis of Student Learning	Analysis of student learning is absent and there is no reference to unit goals and objectives. There is little or no supporting evidence in student work.	Analysis of student learning is present but not systematic or complete and there is little reference to unit goals and objectives. Supporting evidence in student work is inconsistent.	Systematic analysis of student learning with sufficient reference to unit goals and objectives. Includes sufficient analysis of assessments that is supported by evidence in student work.	A thorough systematic analysis of student learning with explicit reference to unit goals and objectives. Includes clear and succinct analysis of multiple forms of assessment that is supported by evidence in student work.
9. Unit Analysis	Analysis of the implementation of the unit that brings together content, theory, and practice is not articulated. How the candidate integrated the components of the unit into a coherent whole that produces meaningful and relevant student learning is not described. Connections between the unit implementation and the larger curriculum and theoretical framework are not mentioned.  Semester: _____ Course # _____

Part II: NAEYC Standards for EARLY CHILDHOOD teacher candidates

Based on the innovative unit paper submitted, evaluate the extent to which the candidate provided evidence of meeting the each of the specific NAEYC standards and related key elements listed below, using the following rubrics:

1. Insufficient – i.e., this standard/element was not met.
2. Emergent – i.e., there is only partial evidence that this standard/element was addressed or the standard/element was only partially addressed; more evidence is needed before determining proficiency with respect to this standard/element.
3. Basic proficiency– i.e., the unit provide sufficient evidence of addressing this standard/element at least at the minimum acceptable level
4. Outstanding performance – i.e., the unit provides an excellent example of addressing this standard/element.

To arrive to this evaluation, please refer to the more detailed explanations and rubrics provided by the NAEYC association for each specific standard and related key elements (included in the “Early Childhood Teacher Candidates Standards and Rubrics” document you received from the Warner School and also available at <http://www.naeyc.org/faculty/college.asp#2001>). Please note that we are asking you to provide both an evaluation of the extent to which the candidate met each key element AND an overall evaluation of how the candidate met each standard. And, while your overall evaluation of each standard should be based on and consistent with your evaluation of the candidate’s performance with respect to the related key elements, it does not need to be the “average” of the scores assigned to each related element, but rather represent a more qualitative “overall” evaluation of how the candidate meets that standard as a whole.

NAEYC Standards	1	2	3	4
3. Observing, Documenting, and Assessing to Support Young Children and Families. Candidates know about and understand the goals, benefits, and uses of assessment. They know about and use systematic observations, documentation, and other effective assessment strategies in a responsible way, in partnership with families and other professionals, to positively influence children’s development and learning. Key elements:
3a. Understanding the goals, benefits and uses of assessment.
3b. Knowing about and using observation, documentation, and other appropriate assessment and approaches.
3c. Understanding and practicing responsible assessment.
3d. Knowing about assessment partnerships with families and other professionals.

4. Teaching and Learning. Candidates integrate their understanding of and relationships with children and families; their understanding of developmentally effective approaches to teaching and learning; and their knowledge of academic disciplines to design, implement, and evaluate experiences that promote positive development and learning for all children. Key elements:
4a. Connecting with children and families. Candidates know, understand and use positive relationships and supportive interactions as the foundation for their work with young children.
4b. Using developmentally effective approaches. Candidates know, understand and use a wide array of appropriate, effective approaches to support young children's development and learning.
4c. Understanding content knowledge in early childhood education. Candidates understand the importance of each content area in young children's learning. They know the essential concepts, inquiry tools, and structure of content areas including academic subjects and can identify resources to deepen their understanding.
4d. Building meaningful curriculum. Candidates use their own knowledge and other resources to design, implement, and evaluate meaningful, challenging curriculum that promotes comprehensive developmental and learning outcomes for all young children.

INNOVATIVE UNIT RUBRICS PART III: Warner proficiencies

Please evaluate the extent to which the unit plan and its implementation provides evidence that the candidate has achieved the following proficiencies set by the Warner School as targets for all teacher candidates, using the following rubrics:

1. Insufficient – i.e., this proficiency was not met.
2. Emergent/needs improvement – i.e., you found some evidence that the candidate demonstrated this proficiency, but it was only partial or inconsistent.
3. Basic proficiency – i.e., you found evidence that the candidate demonstrated this proficiency at the minimum acceptable level.
4. Outstanding performance – i.e., the unit provided an excellent example that the candidate has achieved proficiency in this area.

We realize that in some cases you may not have had the opportunity to gather pertinent information for all proficiencies listed below. Therefore, we have given the option, whenever appropriate, for you do indicate “n/o” (“not observed”) to clearly distinguish this situation from the one where you had the opportunity to observed relevant behavior and found it lacking. There are some proficiencies, however, for which this is not an option since your evaluation is critical to assessing the candidate on that particular dimension – as indicated by a blackened cell corresponding to the “n/o” option.

Selected Warner School proficiencies as they could be observed in the unit:	n/o	1	2	3	4
(WS 1.2) The design of the unit reflects a good understanding of the key concepts, tools of inquiry and structures of the subject matter(s) addressed in the unit.
(WS 1.3) The goals set for the unit and their discussion address some important principles and concepts delineated in professional, New York State, and Warner School Teaching and Curriculum standards.
(WS 1.4) The unit included learning experiences that made the subject matter meaningful and relevant for all students in the class.
(WS 2.2) The unit design and its analysis demonstrate that the candidate understands that all students construct knowledge through active engagement in culturally valued activities.
(WS 2.3) The unit included learning experiences that took into consideration the students' developmental level and drew on the strengths and resources available in students' prior experiences, as well as the school, family, and community contexts in which they live.
(WS 3.4) The unit included learning experiences that were culturally relevant and addressed the strengths and needs of all students.
(WS 4.2) The design and implementation of the unit included a selection or innovative teaching and learning strategies and classroom structures, appropriate to achieving the learning goals set for this unit.

(WS 4.4) The unit took advantage of the potential of technology to support student learning, as appropriate to the goals set for the students.
(WS 5.3) The activities in the unit and the classroom environment fostered student motivation and learning and the creation of a “community of learners.”
(WS 6.3) The design and implementation of the unit employed appropriate and effective modes of communication to make the ideas accessible to all students and foster inquiry.
(WS 6.4) The unit activities incorporated oral, written, visual, and electronic texts as appropriate to facilitate interaction and communication, and provide support for all students’ critical analysis of such texts.
(WS 7.1) The unit’s activities are appropriate to pursue the learning goals identified (which in turn are consistent with professional and New York State standards).
(WS 7.2) The unit has a well-defined and high quality plan, which was adequately implemented with appropriate modifications as suggested by the feedback received during the implementation.
(WS 8.2) Appropriate assessment and evaluation strategies were used to monitor, assess and provide guidance to student learning, including some that are embedded in authentic learning activities and have real audiences and purposes.
(WS 8.3) The candidate was able to use assessment data to inform instruction by making explicit links in the unit analysis between his/her teaching and student performance, and by either making immediate adjustments in the unit or suggesting changes for future implementations.
(WS 8.4) Positive effect on the students’ learning is demonstrated through the aggregated data and samples of student work included in the unit report.
(WS 9.2) The unit analysis demonstrates the candidate’s ability to reflect on his/her practices, constructively use critiques of his/her practice, and draw from theories and research results, in order to make necessary adjustments to enhance student learning.
(WS 10.1) The unit design sought out and built on parental and community involvement as appropriate.
