Dear Colleagues,

I appreciate how hard you are working to move your courses online. Those who have shared their experiences with me have done so without complaint, and I would go so far as to say with good cheer, even though they needed to move instantly, and had no online teaching experience. "Not to worry, I'm driven by our mission" one said, and I could not have felt prouder to be part of the Warner Community.

It is time to look beyond the current semester. Students are understandably concerned about summer sessions and being able to continue to make academic progress. I know we are all committed to advancing our students toward degree completion. I have consulted with program chairs, and all agreed we should run our summer sessions as scheduled, online if needed.

I again thank you for your seemingly boundless commitment. Though I have thanked you many times over the past ten days, and am certain to continue doing so, understand that I do so with sincerity.

Stay well,

Brian
